

SEAN ALEXANDER

Candidate for North Vancouver City Council (2026)

Your Voice. Our City. No More Surprises.

THREE CORE PILLARS

1. Infrastructure-First Planning

- The Core: Secure and upgrade local roads, water, and sewage systems before approving massive new density.
- The Standard: No more sliding the bill to taxpayers for massive regional cost overruns while local infrastructure strains.

2. Smart Density Without Displacement

- The Core: Protect long-term renters and the established social fabric of our neighborhoods.
- The Standard: Prevent rapid local rezonings from squeezing out working-class families and frontline workers.

3. Active, Upfront Representation

- The Core: Gather meaningful citizen input before major plans are finalized at City Hall.
- The Standard: Open communication and proactive transparency over closed-door, top-down surprises.

PLATFORM

Platform 1: The Accountable Decision-Maker

"I'm not going to give you a cheap 'yes' or 'no' today just to buy your vote. That is the kind of pre-decided politics that got us here. When I am on council, my job is to gather direct citizen input, look at the hard metrics, and make a firm, common-sense decision. Not everyone will agree with every call, but I will stand behind my decisions, make them tangible, and ensure there are no more surprises."

Platform 2: Protecting Our Working Families

"Our residents are being squeezed on both ends. Rapid local rezonings are displacing long-term tenants, while regional infrastructure blunders hand them a 30-year tax hike to pay for mistakes they didn't make. We must protect our renters, keep public services strong and in-house, and ensure the people who build and run this city can actually afford to live here."

Platform 3: Rigorous, Data-Driven Oversight

"I bring a background in physics and technology entrepreneurship. In the private sector, if you oversee a massive project blunder, you are escorted out of the building. In government, the bill is simply slid under the taxpayer's door. I will bring analytical discipline and strict project oversight to City Hall to ensure our public funds are managed responsibly."
